Amazon Business Launches New Buying Programme to Help Schools Source Everyday Supplies More Efficiently

Amazon Business has announced the UK launch of Business Essentials, a new curated buying programme designed to help organisations — including schools, academies and multi-academy trusts — source everyday items more efficiently, at competitive prices, with fast and reliable delivery.

The launch coincides with Business Deal Days, running through 19 May, giving Amazon Business customers access to savings across office, IT, maintenance and more.

With school budgets under sustained pressure and procurement teams stretched, Business Essentials offers a more guided buying experience within Amazon Business.

Rather than navigating Amazon's vast full catalogue, users can quickly access a curated selection of tens of thousands of commonly purchased products across core categories — from office and IT supplies to janitorial and breakroom essentials — helping staff save time and stay focused on running the school.

What Schools Get with Business Essentials

Access is straightforward too. Business Essentials is available now through existing Amazon Business accounts, sitting alongside features such as guided buying and spend visibility that many schools will already be familiar with.
